Why should those restaurants be allowed to have sidewalk dining and others are not allowed to do that?

Hi!

My name is Melody and I have some thoughts as someone who commuted three years on bike down state street.

The heft cost of this project with the lack of items actually being delivered is a massive red flag to your constituents, especially with the massive budget deficit and rumors of furloughs going on in the city.

It's been interesting to watch millions of tax payers dollars invested in this plan, all for the city to go with the lowest contract bidder, and give us nothing to help address the issues on state street.

Cutting off the sidewalks and adding in the boardwalks down lower street has created even more confusion and people walking freely in the bike lanes. I almost hit someone on a daily basis just freely walking into the middle of the street now in that area, when it use to be I'd almost hit someone weekly. Please add in more signage or something to help direct people!

I also was incredibly disappointed to see that the fix the bike / pedestrian issues was to install Boullards, which are incredible expensive. Correct me if I'm wrong, but you have no plans to help keep the bike lane safe and separate expect painting the ground? Please look at big cities like Chicago, New York! They use planters, cones, and other things to clearly distinguish the path. MUCH cheaper and will get the job done.

Lastly, I'm rooting for you guys. I want this to succeed. I want our community to be beautiful and thrive as much as you do! The painting downtown looks great!

Thank you for listening to my concerns.

I would like to suggest shortening phase 1 to as short as possible and not engage in much temporary testing of the concepts (like the temporary decking), and instead move to redevelopment phase where we can see all these efforts come to fruition. We have been living for many, many years at this point in a holding, testing, trial period, and I think this plan should kick concrete action on implementing the plan in the shorter term.

The plan called out permeable paver and trench drains but does not address curbs between traffic/bike lane and sidewalk. In line with walkable plazas/streets around the world they are mostly curb less. Would this be allowed if traffic had use?

To me curbs separate the space physically and mentally and take is from a large, accessible, open plaza to one of separate smaller spaces. This seems to allow the “in between” areas to be taken over by people and things(trash, unkept planters, bikes, etc) that are non conducive to the master plan or feel.

Hello again,

I sent an email previously about access for wheelchair-bound disabled residents and tourists and have a couple of questions:

- 1) Is the extended portion of the newly proposed sidewalk with a curb or without?
- 2) If a wheelchair user is allowed access to the bike lanes, is the extended sidewalk designed in a manner that their accompanying companions could comfortably and safely walk alongside them? If so then it would not be critical that the newly extended portion of the sidewalk be a smooth surface though it would provide greater safe access for those in wheelchairs.

Please feel free to contact me by phone for further discussion on this important topic.

Thank you,

Dear planners,

Let me point out a huge boondoggle!

The 12 ft of restaurant tables on the plan should not be placed up against the buildings, but placed between the “parkway” and the “pedestrian sidewalk”. The 8 ft pedestrian walkway should be placed, unimpeded, along the storefront windows. This allows pedestrians to actually look into the windows and walk into the stores, on impulse. Do NOT create a barrier.

The current plan favors restaurants over retail shops, because pedestrians will have to walk around the sidewalk tables to see into retail windows and walk into retail shops.

Pedestrians should be able to walk along the shops unimpeded by 12 ft of tables. The storefront window displays on either side of the 12 ft of tables won't be seen, because people will be negotiating around the tables.

10 West Gallery currently rents a display window next to the Draftsman Alehouse (that has only 8 ft of sidewalk tables) which causes pedestrians walk around my window and not see my window display.

I know that I am not the only display window being hurt by restaurant tables placed as blockades to walking along the storefronts.

I implore you to rethink this design and allow pedestrians to enjoy strolling along the front windows of ALL shops on the street.

Let's bring back storefronts! Let's bring back experiential, non-corporate retail as the backbone of our downtown! People want unique, not McDonalds.

Thank you for listening.

Please abide by the intent of the Spanish, Not Mexican, style which was set in motion after the Earthquake of 1924 when the Courthouse was redesigned in the Andalusian style. The Asphalt colors are gaudy and inappropriate and the intersections should be done in stone pavers. This rendering is So Not Santa Barbara! Does anyone on the design review board even have roots here????!! That paving design is absolutely ghastly.

I applaud your plans. It makes sense to break State Street into three distinct sections, focusing on De La Guerra as the city center. My only suggestion is to add one or possibly two locations for food truck vendor hubs. They are very popular; for example, in a city like Bend, Oregon, there are multiple "neighborhoods" where 4-6 vendors congregate. It involves community building and is highly sought after.

Good afternoon,

I just received the email with links to the State Street Master Plan.

Respectfully, this is a failure! The street needs to open to vehicles 100% of the time (i.e., pre-covid).

Please do not spend anymore money painting the streets, putting up cheap bollards, k-rail and plastic planters.

The area is a death zone (do to e-bikes). The infrastructure is crumbling and the sidewalks are filthy.

I have lived in Santa Barbara for 40 plus years; my family and friends agree.

Hi there,

I read the executive summary of the plan and am on board with the vision.

Specifically, I like that it prioritizes pedestrians and cyclists, while allowing for emergency and delivery access. Expanding the sidewalks to allow for more seating/event space also seems great. I also think it is wise to convert some of the excess retail space into housing/mixed-use.

Just wanted to voice my support. Thank you!

Hi,

Please allow me to submit my comments on the master plan:

State Street should be returned to it's pre-closure condition NOW! The current "abandoned street" condition is horrible for businesses. It's chaos and disarray and business owners are suffering because of it. The street should be reopened to cars.

The long-term plan should include vehicular traffic down the entirety of State Street during the entire day - this is critical for the vibrancy of the street and visibility of the business on State - just ask the businesses themselves.

Dear City Council and Planning Team,

I am writing as both a downtown resident and a business owner at Paseo Nuevo, located in the Civic and Commercial core of State Street. I strongly support the goal of revitalizing downtown and appreciate the thought and effort that has gone into this plan. That said, living and working in the heart of this area gives me a daily, ground-level view of how the current conditions are functioning, and I want to share several practical concerns that I do not believe are fully addressed in the draft.

1. Impacts on Chapala, Anacapa, and W De La Guerra Street

The plan continues to rely heavily on Chapala and Anacapa as the primary corridors for vehicle circulation, deliveries, and loading. However, in practice, nearby streets like W De La Guerra Street and other side streets are already experiencing significant spillover impacts. These include double parking, delivery congestion, and unsafe stopping behavior, particularly near Paseo Nuevo on W De La Guerra and these pressures will intensify with the approved project at 102 W. De La Guerra Street, which will include 44 new housing units (without parking). The plan does not appear to include a detailed strategy for managing this increased load across these critical surrounding streets.

2. Parking and Housing Tradeoffs

I understand and support the goal of adding housing downtown. However, the proposal to redevelop parking lots into housing raises real concerns about where both residents and visitors will park. Even if parking is technically “retained” through structured solutions, the transition period and the cumulative impact of additional residents, including projects like 102 W. De La Guerra, will likely increase demand on already constrained surrounding streets.

Additionally, the future of Paseo Nuevo remains uncertain pending the June 2 ballot initiative, which proposes a charter amendment to streamline approval of long-term City contracts and restore the City’s flexibility and authority to manage and lease public property. While the details of redevelopment are still evolving, it is understood that any future housing at Paseo Nuevo is likely to include less parking than currently exists on site. This creates further uncertainty and potential pressure on nearby streets, particularly on Chapala and W De La Guerra, which are already experiencing strain.

3. Delivery, Rideshare, and Day-to-Day Operations

One of the biggest current challenges is the behavior of rideshare/delivery vehicles. Double parking, stopping in red zones, and blocking traffic are common occurrences, particularly along W De La Guerra Street and Chapala. The plan references delivery access but does not outline a clear operational strategy for managing these activities during peak hours. Without designated zones and active management, these issues will persist or worsen.

4. E-Bike and Pedestrian Conflicts

The plan acknowledges conflicts between pedestrians and cyclists and proposes a central lane for bikes. However, from a practical standpoint, this shared environment continues to create safety concerns, particularly with high-speed e-bikes and youth riding in groups, even with the City's recent regulations.

I would strongly recommend considering a different approach:

- Prohibit e-bikes and other bicycles on State Street entirely, and
- Redirect bike traffic to Chapala and Anacapa Streets with clearly defined, dedicated bike lanes.

These streets are already functioning as the primary north-south corridors and are better suited to accommodate faster-moving bike traffic without conflicting with heavy pedestrian use. This would create a truly pedestrian-first environment on State Street while improving safety and predictability for all users.

5. Street Vendors and Enforcement

Unregulated street food vendors are currently a growing issue, particularly downtown on State Street and cross streets. While the plan encourages activation through pop-ups and flexible uses, it does not distinguish between permitted and unpermitted vendors or provide a framework for enforcement. Wider sidewalks and increased foot traffic may unintentionally exacerbate this problem without clear guidelines and management.

6. “Pet-Friendly” Goals vs. Existing Restrictions

I appreciate the intention to create a more pet-friendly environment. However, there is a disconnect between this goal and existing conditions, such as Farmers Market restrictions that prohibit dogs. Clarification on how pet-friendly spaces will be defined and managed would be helpful.

7. Overall Need for Operational Detail

Across many of these issues, a common theme emerges: the plan does an excellent job articulating a vision for a more vibrant, pedestrian-oriented State Street, but it does not yet provide sufficient detail on how the space will be actively managed day-to-day. The challenges we are experiencing now are less about design and more about behavior, enforcement, and operations.

8. Consideration of Flexible Access

While I understand the rationale for closing State Street to vehicles during the day, I would encourage exploring more flexible or targeted access strategies. The current approach places significant strain on surrounding streets, including W De La Guerra

Street, and may create barriers for some visitors and customers trying to access downtown businesses.

I am fully supportive of creating a thriving, walkable, and vibrant downtown. My hope is that the City will continue refining this plan with a stronger focus on real-world operations and the impacts on those of us who live and work here every day.

Thank you for your time and consideration.

Sincerely,

Pam Tanase

To Those to Whom It Concerns,

My partner, Gustavo Ritterstein, is a very healthy quadriplegic and regularly enjoys the current "open" downtown area in his power wheelchair. Due to extreme muscle loss as a result of his injury, he experiences pain and discomfort while wheeling upon the beautiful red-paved sidewalks of downtown. For this reason, with the design of State Street as it is currently, he and I, whenever I accompany him, use the bike lanes for mobility and they don't always feel safe to do so with the occasional speeding E-Bike adjacent to us..

Has this particular group's special needs been factored into the new State Street Master Plan? Perhaps the bike lanes will include the necessary allowance of wheelchair users and their companions in a safe manner? Or perhaps the additional new portion of the sidewalk can be unpaved to allow for a comfortable, smooth and safe mobility experience by the disabled, residents and visitors alike, in wheelchairs?

I look forward to hearing from you on how the SSMP addresses this important inclusive matter.

Respectfully,
Celeste Anacker

Since State St has been closedown, many do not bother to go downtown, including my family.

Driving downtown, having to park who knows where to even look for the store you want. (let alone not have parades on state st.)

Parking lots are not safe, cost too much to even park.

Sadly, Santa Barbara is now basically a tourist town, no longer a home town.
Mostly designed for tourists, not residents.

Dear DSBIA,

This temporary closure of State Street was originally implemented during COVID as an emergency measure, not a permanent solution. As we move forward, decisions of this scale should reflect broader and more representative community input.

Based on available data, outreach for the State Street Master Plan included participation from roughly 6,000 individuals, while the population of Santa Barbara ranges between 82,000 and 92,000 residents. This represents less than 10% of the population and raises concerns about how representative the feedback truly is especially when participation is voluntary and likely skewed toward specific groups. This is not a representative sample, and it should not be used to justify long term policy decisions that affect the entire city.

I also want to point out that while it is often stated that reopening State Street to traffic does not guarantee increased revenue, the same logic applies in reverse: a pedestrian only model does not automatically create economic success. Correlation does not equal causation in either case.

Given that the City has invested significant taxpayer funds reportedly close to $1 million on outside consultants, it is concerning that there has not been a meaningful effort to test alternatives. A temporary trial period allowing vehicle access would provide real data to evaluate both models rather than relying on assumptions or projections.

It is also important to acknowledge that certain businesses, particularly restaurants and bars, benefit from expanded outdoor seating. However, increased revenue in those sectors should not be assumed to validate the pedestrian only model as a whole, especially when other types of businesses may be negatively impacted.

I strongly urge the City to expand its outreach efforts beyond downtown stakeholders. This includes directly engaging working class communities on the Westside and Eastside residents who may not have the time or access to participate in online surveys but are equally impacted by these decisions. We live here, pay taxes, and contribute to the local economy, and our voices should be included yet their input is largely absent from this process.

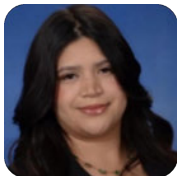

Additionally, the current golf cart system is not an effective transportation solution. With limited capacity (approximately six passengers) and wait times that can exceed 30–45 minutes, it does not meet the needs of residents or visitors. Restoring higher capacity options, such as the trolley system, would be a more practical and accessible solution.

Finally, there are broader cultural impacts being ignored. State Street has historically been a central gathering place for the entire community, including events like Fiesta parades. These traditions have been disrupted without clear justification or community consensus. State Street is a central part of our community which speaks to the broader cultural impact of these changes.

I respectfully ask the City to:

- Conduct genuinely representative, citywide outreach
- Implement a time-bound trial reopening State Street to vehicle traffic
- Collect and publish transparent data comparing both models
- Reevaluate transportation with systems that actually meet demand

Continuing to move forward without testing alternatives or expanding outreach does not reflect sound planning it reflects a predetermined outcome.

I grew up in Santa Barbara. My family owned one of the original stores in Paseo Nuevo before moving to 1023 State Street. At that time, downtown was clean, vibrant, and full of energy. Our family business thrived for years, supported by a loyal customer base and a strong local economy. Ultimately, it wasn't demand that forced us out, it was rent. Both our retail space and manufacturing facility on Cacique Street became unsustainable, despite decades of hard work.

Pre-Covid, I commuted by bike from San Roque to the harbor. State Street was the only practical route, thanks to its dedicated bike lane. I'd stop at Dune along the way and continue straight down to the waterfront. Ironically, I no longer bike to work. State Street has become neither safe nor functional, and the alternatives simply don't make sense.

If any portion of State remains closed, it should be truly pedestrian-only during business hours - no bikes, no vehicles. But more importantly, I believe State Street should be reopened. We already have numerous underutilized gathering spaces: De La Guerra Plaza, El Paseo, La Arcada, and Paseo Nuevo. The idea that businesses need to expand patios into the street to survive misses the point. What they need are customers and manageable rents.

Today, I run a business on Stearns Wharf, which I view as a natural extension of State Street. State is one of the few continuous, two-way corridors connecting the waterfront to our historic mission, the Arts District, and the Funk Zone. It has always served as a vital link for residents and visitors alike.

The waterfront sees some of the highest visitor traffic in Santa Barbara, and closing State Street is actually counterproductive to bringing those visitors downtown. Those exploring on foot will continue to do so regardless, but visitors traveling by car, rideshare, or bicycle are far less likely to make their way up State and more likely to divert elsewhere.

For generations, cars, bikes, and pedestrians coexisted downtown. That balance supported commerce, accessibility, and community traditions - from parades to everyday life. We don't need to reinvent State Street, we need to restore its function.

My vote is to reopen State Street and focus both funding and city leadership on tourism and economic growth.

See you on the water,
Rebecca

It's quite obvious that none of the planners lived in Santa Barbara during the 60's and 70's when State St was a valued part of the local community and not one re-directed for the tourist trade. And really, letting kids loose on State St. with their electric bikes? Do any of you people really live here?

What is the short-term solution ? Intermittent step from here!
Rents are down to the 1990's levels, Access values are down 20%
Vacancy is at an all-time high. The only change is that the street is closed!

How does the city pay for this plan. Real Estate taxes have been reduced. ??????

No problem! I didn't get the original email – the master plan account doesn't go directly to me. I will fill out the questionnaire. I see it was due last Friday – I am running into another meeting but will get it to as soon as possible, although likely cannot get to it until tomorrow. I hope that works for you. Thank you so much for this incredible honor.

This is a once-in-a-lifetime Opportunity for a Business like yours. I'm a publisher. This is a National House.

We market not advertise - not buy from but buy with and we're doing $48 million doing so. With ~ 1,500 Publications - in print it's to high-value homes (starting in Santa Barbara to 2,300 in Eucalyptus Hill and the Riviera) and online it's to up to 5 Zip Codes simultaneously. You represent content, we represent you in each locale. With 17 nationally recognized awards and 4 billion targeted ads recorded, we have deliveries, a content manager, a profile for you on our portal where you can track your progress as soon as possible.

Object. You might think: "It's too much." Have a target then step down. You might say: "We don't do much promotion. Does it work? Why?" The Small Business Association says: if you're trying to maintain your business, you need to spend 5-8% on promotions. If you're trying to grow you need to spend more. I need your credit.
